Mobile Unit X-Rays 2,641 In Cameron, 3,024 In Milam County

There were 979 people X-rayed by the free TB X-ray mobile unit in Cameron Saturday, H. H. Pruett, county chairman for the drive said Monday morning. This brings the total in Cameron to 2,641 for the three day period. This is an increase of 88 over the X-rays taken in Cameron in 1952 during a period of five days.

With the 383 X-rayed at Buckholts, the total for Milam county thus far is 3,024 of the goal of 7,000.

The unit will be located in Thorndale Wednesday and in Rockdale on Friday and Saturday.

Ladies that assisted with the unit on Saturday were: Mrs. A. E. Jones, Mrs. Perry Holder, Mrs. T. J. Burkes, Mrs. Charles Brady, Miss Janie Pitts, Miss Andrea Brady, Mrs. H. G. Haraway, Mrs. Don Humble, all of the Pleasure and Profit Club.

RR Commission OK's Lone Star Rate Hike Outside City Limits

The Railroad Commission of Texas has approved Lone Star Gas Company's application to increase residential and commercial rates for natural gas service outside the corporate limits of Cameron and in unincorporated towns and communities in the vicinity, according to an announcedment by M. L. Bird of Dallas, operating manager for Lone Star's general division of distribution.

The Railroad Commission order authorizing the rate adjustment calls for an increase of 13 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas, Mr. Bird said. He pointed out that Lone Star has been granted similar rate adjustments by city councils in Cameron and in more than 240 other incorporated cities and towns in Texas since last September.

Mr. Bird stated that residential and commercial rates charged by Lone Star had not been increased generally within the last 25 years, but, conversely, were reduced ten cents per thousand cubic feet in May, 1942. He said the new rate for the unincorporated areas is only three cents per thousand cubic feet higher than the rate charged by Lone Star prior to the 1842 reduction.

The Lone Star operating manager expressed appreciation to the Railroad Commission for "consideration of the gas company application," pointing out that the "new rate makes it posible for us to continue to maintain our high standard of service on the plane desired and expected by our customers."

The Railroad Commission has original jurisdiction of natural gas rates in unincorporated towns and areas in Texas.

Moisture Outlook For Wheat, Oats in Texas Brighter

Austin.—Moisture is now ample to carry both wheat and oats "well along toward maturity" east of a line running from Wichita Falls to Abilene, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday.

West of that line, "frequent timely rains must continue for crop prospects to be maintained," the USDA said.

Some cotton, grain sorghum and corn went into the ground in southern and southwestern counties. However, over most of the east half of Texas, farmers were anxiously waiting for soils to dry so they could launch full scale planting of cotton, sorghum and corn.

"Biff" Falls for His Own Story

Biff Morgan's four-year-old daughter Rusty is something of a night owl. Stays awake way past her bedtime.

Every night Mrs. Morgan complained about how hard it was to get Rusty to go to sleep. Finally Biff decided to handle the situation. "Anyone can get a kid to sleep — takes a little patience! Here, hand me her storybook."

He grabs the book and goes into Rusty's room. About an hour later Rusty comes padding out in pajamas and hands her mother the book. "Read it quietly," she whispers, "so we don't wake Daddy."

From where I sit, Biff won't be so quick to be a "child-care specialist" the next time. If we could just resist being such "know it alls," our neighbors would be better off. Take those who would deny me a glass of beer with my supper — well, I might not care for the buttermilk they like. We all ought to realize that we all have different abilities and different preferences, too.

April 7 Trial Set For Wilbur Morgan Jr.

An April 7 trial in Milam County District Court has been set for Wilbur Morgan Jr., who has been charged and indicted for aiding a prisoner to escape.

Morgan's alleged act took place in February when, according to County Attorney Jim Miller, he tried to aid Steven L. Work, charged with the rape of his own daughter, to escape from the county jail.

According to Miller the escape attempt was blocked when Sheriff Carl Black heard sawing and sneaked up and found Work in the act of trying to break out.

Morgan will be defended by Attorney Jack Prescott. It was reported that a jury trial has been requested.

Brazos Authority Given Approval In House Committee

Austin, Texas, March 24.—A measure setting up a Brazos Valley Authority and allowing it to contract with the Texas Power and Light Co. for sale of power generated at three proposed dams was approved Tuesday by the House conservation and reclamation committee.

The bill would change the name of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District to the shorter title, which proponents said would provide a better market for sale of the authority's bonds.

Rep. Frank Owen of El Paso, chairman of a sub-committee which studied the bill, said the district is negotiating with Texas Power and Light for sale of power.

TP&L, he said, would sell transmission lines at cost to the authority—amounting to some $5,000,000. After 33 years, the authority would sell the lines to TP&L at the depreciated value.

John D. McCall, general counsel for the district, said the three proposed dams are the Turkey Creek Dam and Inspiration Point Dam, both in Palo Pinto county near Mineral Wells, and at De Cordova Ben, in Hood and Johnson counties.

Uniforms Donated By Helfley-Stedman And American Legion

In 1950, when the American Legion Post No. 9 started Junior baseball, H. H. Stedman, of Hefley-Stedman Motor Company, donated 18 complete uniforms to the American Legion.

In 1951 and 1952 there were not enough boys in Cameron who wanted to play baseball, and the uniforms have been stored for two years.

It has been learned that Mr. Stedman has donated these uniforms to the boys at Yoe High School. We know that the boys at Yoe High, who will be wearing these suits as well as the fans watching these boys play will remember the Ford Company, and Mr. Stedman is to be congratulated for his generous contribution to the boys.

What Number Will He Call Next?

UNTIL YOU LIFT YOUR RECEIVER, no one knows what your next telephone call will be — or when you'll want it. Telephone calls can't be manufactured ahead of time and kept in stock until you order one. Every call must be tailor-made — within a few seconds after you place your order. Here in Texas, 28,000 telephone people are devoting their time and skill to manufacturing your telephone calls. They are at your service 24 hours a day, 365 days a year — at a cost to you of less than a package of cigarettes a day. SOUTHWESTERN BELL ...

ALCOA'S PROGRESS

IS YOUR PROGRESS

Last year, Alcoa's $350,000,000 expansion program included a new ore refining plant at Bauxite, Arkansas . . . a new aluminum smelting plant at Wenatchee, Washington . . . another at Rockdale, Texas . . . expansion at Point Comfort works, Texas, and at Mobile, Alabama . . . additions and improvements to Alcoa's mining and manufacturing facilities. What does this mean to you? Plenty, no matter where you live!

- More than five thousand new jobs created at Alcoa's plants and offices.
- More than $30,000,000 in new annual wages, salaries, and benefits.
- Additional consumers for goods and services supplied in these areas.
- Beyond these, however, you are still going to benefit from this program, for it means an additional 205,000 tons of vital aluminum for America's defense and civilian industry—its foundries, forges, rolling mills and extrusion presses. Here's aluminum for more than 1,200 military applications—for more and better windows and screens—trucks and trains—electrical cable and irrigation pipe—home freezers and television sets.

Alcoa's progress means more aluminum for the many industries that require it for their future growth—industries that already give employment to over a million people. It means job opportunities for young, ambitious, industrious Americans. It means a stronger, more prosperous and progressive nation—a better future for us all.

1952 Totals Released On Highway Casualties

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today released the State's final traffic fatality figure for 1952.

Complete tabulation of motor vehicle accidents for last year show that 2,498 persons were killed, according to Garrison. This is 48 below the figure for 1951 and sets the death rate at 7.0, the lowest point since the creation of the State Department of Public Safety in 1935. The death rate is based on the number of fatalities per 100 million motor vehicle miles traveled. The national death rate for 1952 was pegged at 7.3 by the National Safety Council.

"This means,' said Garrison, "that for the first time Texas fared a little better than the national average."

Total number of accidents was up some 31,000 over the preceding year and the estimated economic loss from traffic accidents was set at over $154 million, up $21 million dollars over 1951.

Legislators Pushing Export Gas Tax

Threat of a general sales tax levy in Texas makes it all the more imperative that the 53rd Legislature pass a tax on natural gas going into pipelines, five legislators who are sponsoring gas pipeline tax bills declared today.

Two-thirds of a gas pipeline tax would be paid by people and businesses outside of Texas, while a sales tax would be paid almost entirely by people living in Texas, the statement of Representatives Briscoe of Uvalde, George Hinson of Mineola, Charles E. Hughes of Sherman, Maury Maverick of San Antonio, and John A. Warden of McKinney declared.

"Is there any hesitation on the part of the people of Texas in choosing which tax they prefer—one they would pay themselves or one to be paid mostly by people outside of Texas? the legislators asked. "Is there any doubt as to their decision?"

"The people of Texas are demanding more and better services from their government," the statement continued. "And the cost of the services already being rendered has increased. More money is needed—and the logical place to get that money is by the levy of a natural gas pipeline tax.

"Texas needs more money for an expanding highway system.

"Texas cities, caught in the squeeze between a tax ceiling and rising costs, need money for city streets.

"Texas' educational system needs money to provide the best in education for the school children of the state.

"Texas needs an adequate and continuing water conservation program."

These needs can all be met by the levy of a tax on pipeline gas of about two cents per thousand cubic feet, raising about $60,000,000 a year, the legislators declared.

"Two thirds of that tax would automatically be passed on to the users of Texas gas in other states—but Texans would enjoy the benefits through better highways, better streets, better education and better water conservation," they said.

Exports of natural gas from Texas have climbed 900 per cent in the last 12 years the lawmakers pointed out.

"In 1940, only about 19 billion cubic feet of gas was leaving the state each month. Today, only a dozen years later, Texas Railroad Cimmission reports show that 180 billion cubic feet a month are leaving the state to provide fuel for home, stores and factories in other states. Texas use of its own gas, in the same period, has increased only about 350 per cent, from about 31 billion cubic feet a month to 107 billion cubic feet a month."

The ga tax bill sponsors urged the people of Texas to make their wishes known by informing members of the legislature of their wishes as to a tax on natural gas pipelines to provide the revenue for necessary services.

THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER SAYS CONGRESSMAN WANTING STRONGER WORDS TO CALL RUSSIA IS DATED

Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm at Marlow may know a little something about what he's talking about this week, as it involves words, and he seems to have plenty of that commodity.

Dear editar:

I was out here the other afternoon watchin my cattle graze, there's nothin more satisfyin than watchin your own cattle graze on your own land, although I'll admit it was a little more satisfyin this time last year, about 40 per cent more satisfyin, to be exact, as that's how the price of the things has dropped, and I stumbled onto a copy of a newspaper which was several days old but readin an out-of-date newspaper is a lot more interestin than dozens of things I can think of to do around this place and I took it to the shade and read where a Congressman in Washington was demandin that a resolution denouncin Russia for enslavin people be worded a lot stronger.

As I understand it, the Congressman wanted to re-write the resolution and put in some words at least four times as strong as the ones under consideration, but I'm afraid he's up against an impossible situation. What would he do with the words after he put 'em together?

If I tried right hard I could think up some words a lot stronger to call Russia, but you wouldn't print 'em and I wouldn't blame you. Nobody on the radio could use 'em, either.

Moreover, I don't believe there are any words, printable or unprintable, which we could get hold of which would have any effect on Russia. Anybody who's figurin on setting up a bunch of scientists on a research project to invent stronger words to call Russia, is sure barkin up the wrong spout. In an atomic age, a word bombbardment is about as effective as a barrage of arrows aginst the 12-foot-thick walls of the Kremlin. The pen may be mightier than the sword, but it ain't mightier than a jet bomber loaded with an atom bomb. The man who could fell a thousand with a phrase, ought to see what they're doin now with jellied gasoline. Congress may be able to solve domestic problems with words and there's no recognizable shortage of ammunition in that department, but oratory is a mighty poor weapon to throw against a tank.

I've heard of people who could annihilate an enemy with a word, but there's just not many of them left, or else they're just not makin words as strong these days.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Santa Fe

America's New Railroad

What's this surveyor doing? He's sighting on tomorrow... clipping off an old curve... clipping off the past...

It goes on day after day on the Santa Fe. Building new.

Till there's nothing left that's old today of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe but the country and the song and the pride of its people!

IN THE PAST 5 YEARS... Whole fleets of streamlined trains replaced with finer streamlined trains... Enough new track laid to more than reach from Chicago to Los Angeles... Great new "hump" yards built to speed switching... New roadbed, new rail and new ballast methods—for smoother, safer rides for goods and people.

IN THE PAST YEAR... New freight stations, with new towveyors, at Chicago and San Francisco... Great new construction started to raise Santa Fe rails in Kansas and Missouri above the highest flood stage of recorded history.

IN THIS YEAR... New micro-wave communication system put in service between Galveston and Beaumont, Texas... New freight classification yard will be opened at Belen, New Mexico.

AND IN THE NEXT YEAR... More curves will be clipped, more grades reduced... 119 new diesel units will go to work... New modern diesel shops will be completed... 3600 new freight cars will be placed in service... New electronic communication and control equipment will be installed... and El Capitan will be re-equipped with all new chair cars!

AND IN THE NEXT 5 YEARS... New cars and whole new trains will be rolling on an ever newer, greater Santa Fe.

It costs Santa Fe millions (not one penny from the taxes you pay) to keep America's New Railroad growing newer every day.

Fertilizer Shortage Cause Concern Here; Substitute Available

(By J. D. Moore, County Agt.)

A situation has developed in the fertilizer field which is causing concern among farmers. Ammonium nitrate, is in short supply but farmers should not fail to use a nitrogen fertilizer if one is needed to boost crop and pasture yields.

M. K. Thornton, agricultural chemist for the Texas Extension Service recommends the use of ammonium sulphate to overcome the shortage. The supply of this material is plentiful and readily available. It contains 21% nitrogen as compared to 33% for the ammonium nitrate. To get the same amount of nitrogen in the soil, just apply one-half more of the ammonium sulphate. In other words, 150 pounds of ammonium sulphate would contain the same amount of nitrogen as 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate.

The results from the use of the substitute should be just as good or better especially on neutral and or slightly alkaline soils. Don't let the short supply and high price of ammonium nitrate curtail the use of a nitrogenous fertilizer because a good one that will do the job is available.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Pierce of Hanover were visitors here Friday.

Tax Receipts Pour In Faster Than Year 1952

Washington, March 23.—Taxpayers are pouring money into the U. S. Treasury at a faster clip this year than last, but officials say it's too early to tell whether this will trim an expected deficit.

As of March 18, the latest day reported, federal revenues so far in the year ending June 30 totaled nearly $47,000,000,000. That's about $5,000,000,000 more than recorded for a like period last year.

The $47,000,000,000 is still a long way from the $68,700,000,000 total the Truman administration estimated would come in this fiscal year. However, the flow of tax revenue is expected to increase. Government spending, meanwhile, has stepped up because of defense outlays.

The budget submitted by former President Truman forecast a deficit for the year of $5,900,000,000.

Mrs. Marjorie Rogers Church, well known attorney of Marlin, transacted business here last weekend. Mrs. Church is well known and has many friends here.

41 States Will Draft 19-Year-Olds For Military Duty in April

Washington, March 23.—Forty-one states will draft 19-year-olds for military duty next month, and two others may have to.

For 14 of these 41 states, it will be the first draft of 19-year-olds since World War II.

The survey of state selective service directors also found that all but two states—Alabama and South Carolina—probably will be taking 19-year-olds in May.

The other three states that won't take 19-year-olds in April are Maryland, Vermont and Virginia.

The April draft quotas for the whole country is 53,000.

The present draft age is 18½ to 26. Since the draft started in 1948, draft boards have been taking first the oldest men they have. They have worked down from the 26 to 20-year-olds and have drafted, deferred, exempted or rejected almost all the men between those ages. Until January state directors had been ordered to take no 19-year-olds.

In the following states, more than 50 per cent of the listed quotas will be 19-year-olds:

Arkansas, 940 quota; Michigan, 2,527; New Hampshire, 151; Nevada, 48; New Mexico, 280; Rhode Island, 197, and Texas, 2,876.

In the following, about 25 per cent of the quotas will be 19-year-olds:

Florida, about 850 quota; Idaho, 248; Kansas, 749; Kentucky, 1,350; Louisiana, 892. North Carolina expects to take 700 of a 1,672 quota; Oklahoma, 500 of 1,300, and Colorado, 100 of 336.

Telephone Company Pays $1,313.48 In Taxes For Year 1952

A tax on the money it received in Cameron for service during 1952 was paid to the city Friday by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Manager C. L. Carson of the company delivered a check for $1,313.48 to City Tax Collector, Mrs. Neomi Needham in payment of the two per cent tax on gross receipts of the telephone firm.

The payment brought to $6,692 the 1952 local tax bill of the company here, the manager said. The telephone company's property taxes on school and city assessments amounted to $2,745, and county taxes totaled $2,633.

"We are glad to pay taxes here to contribute to the support of schools and other governmental functions of the community," the manager states. "In the final analysis, though, it is the telephone user who pays the tax when he pays his telephone bill—the company simply acts as a collector and passes the money along to the various branches of government.

"And telephone users are among the most heavily taxed people in the country, for the telephone is taxed higher even than luxury items—more than anything else except whiskey and cigarettes," the manager pointed out.

"Across the nation, telephone users pay an average of $2.85 in taxes monthly per telephone, counting the taxes the company pays directly and the excise tax the customer pays on his bill for local service and long distance calls. This amounts to an average of $34.20 per year in taxes per telephone."

RUBE BURROW, THE "MOST AUDACIOUS" TRAIN ROBBER

Reuben Houston Burrow was about the most audacious character ever to earn his subsistence behind the handle of a gun. It is claimed that he was the first man to rob a train single handed.

"Rube" Burrow was born in Lamar County, Alabama, December 11, 1854. His father was a poor farmer, who turned to school teaching—until the patrons found out that he couldn't spell; then he started bootlegging.

Rube saw little possibilities for social or economic advancement in Alabama. So in 1872 he set out for Texas, the "land of promise." He worked on his uncle's farm in Erath County, then he rode as a cowboy and bronco buster until he became known as the best horseman and marksman in those parts. By 1884 he had married, fathered two children, lost his wife and married again. He was tilling a small unproductive farm. In this new land of promise he was still a very poor, and tired man.

It may have been the glamorous stories of Sam Bass that suggested to Rube an easier way to riches than farming. Rube indicated in his latter days that he robbed his first train to get money to buy a sizeable farm on which he could support and properly educate his two children, of whom he was very fond. But this was not as simple as it seemed to the concerned father. In the first place, no single train that Rube could find carried enough money to buy a large farm—certainly not after his assistants got their cut. And secondly, even if Rube could have taken his gains and have forgotten about trains, the railroad detectives would not forget. Robbery, intime, in the very process of self defense, led to murder. There was no turning back, regardless of how bad he might have wished it.

There are reasons to believe that Rube Burrow was not vain nor ambitious for a life of ease, that he truly might have been much concerned about his family. He was a rare example among outlaws in that he was a hard worker. During the days, when he and his men were on the dodge, he was not adverse to any manual labor that would support them. He picked cotton—and lots of it; sawed logs, hauled freight with bulls; he avoided the cities; if he went on spending sprees there is no record of it.

On December 1, 1886, with his brother, Jim, and two other companions, Rube held up his first train at Bellevue, Texas. They got only three hundred dollars in currency. But from a company of soldiers who happened to be on board, they secured enough forty-five calibre revolvers—and from the passengers enough watches—to supply them shooting and time pieces for the remainder of their careers.

The next January, a robbery at Gorden netted them about $2,500. A robbery at Genoa, Arkansas, December 9, 1887, set the Pinkerton Detectives onto the robbers, and they headed for their old stomping grounds in Alabama. For the next three years Rube and his men played cops and robbers with officers from Texas to Florida.

Rube had a system for robbing trains. He or one of his men would board a train, cover the engineer and fireman, force them to pull the engine and express cars across a trestle, leaving the train over the bridge so that the passengers could not get off. At the end of the trestle associates would be waiting. He also had a system for handling conscientious express messengers who locked themselves inside the cars and refused to open up. Set the car on fire. Soon this threat made the messengers quite cooperative. Many of them extended a hand to help pull him inside—on demand, of course. Rube's main complaint against the express company was their failure to put steps on their cars.

On the night of September 1, 1890, he boarded the Louisvile and Nashville at Flomation, on the Alabama-Florida border, alone—all members of his gang were dead or in prison. He had the engineer pull the train onto a bridge, and then made him break the express car window with a pick. He fired several shots into the air. The crew and passengers thought the train was being held up by at least half a dozen robbers.

Shortly afterwards he was captured by two Negroes at whose home he stopped for food. He was locked in the Marengo County jail. He made a sensational escape. But not content merely with his freedom, he then looked up the officer who had his money and rifle and demanded them. Such was the audacity of Rube Burrow to the last. The officer, in this case, got in the lucky shot and the bold career of Rube Burrow ended.

Rube's career of crime had netted him about $5,500, only eight hundred of which he was able to invest in coveted land—and this was spent mainly on his brother and father.

Back in Lamar County they gave Rube a "handsome" funeral. There were a few things that could be said in his favor. He never robbed a poor man and he was no glutton. And that, to his poor neighbors of northeast Alabama meant something. Furthermore it could be said no county ever produced a bolder man.

E. A. Perrin To Head Community Oil Industry Information Group
